What is the ISSSP Six Sigma Profiler?

Our Six Sigma Profiler is the assessment tool for Six Sigma practitioners and consultants. It assesses an individual's capabilities in each of ten industry-defined competencies including: Coach and Mentor, Methodology Expert, Change Agent, Instructor, Project Manager, Leader, Financial Skills, Lean Skills, DFSS Skills, and Deployment Skills.

What does it deliver?

The Six Sigma Profiler uses real practitioner data to provide an personalized assessment report. The report includes standard benchmarks, population performance, individual accomplishment, side-by-side analysis, and a ten-level objective certification.

How can your company benefit?

- Differentiate your practitioners during the sales process. Potential clients always ask about the certifying body for your practitioners. You now can have an objective and legitimate answer. By profiling and certifying your team of consultants through an independent 3rd party, like ISSSP, you will be much more likely to win bids.
- Use real data to match the right talent to the right client. Because the Profiler provides clear delineation of individual strengths and gaps by competency, you can marry a client's needs directly to your consultants' strong suits.
- Upgrade and retain your top talent by committing to their development needs. The Profiler spells out each practitioner's assets and opportunities, creating the perfect individualized development roadmap.
- Round out your cadre of consultants with the right new-hires. Use our group analyzer to understand which competencies your team lacks today. See how your set of professionals stacks up to other industry teams. Use real data in your new hire decision making process.
- Set the benchmarks for your clients. Your clients want to know that you can help them to create, retain, and qualify the most competent industry practitioners. By providing them Six Sigma Profiles of your consultants, they will work to meet your standards.

How can you use the Profiler to promote your educational offerings?

- The Profiler evaluates the amount of training an applicant has within each competency. For individuals who have illustrated training gaps, we will include your matching educational offerings in their personal ISSSP Six Sigma Profiler Report.
- We will also promote your matching offerings on SixSigmaProfiler.com with cross links to your course description pages.

How can you use the Profiler to promote your texts, software, eLearning products?

- If one of your subject matter experts is willing to help us enhance the Profiler body of knowledge assessments, we can promote your matching resources. How?
- The Profiler evaluates the level of knowledge an applicant has within each competency. For individuals who have illustrated knowledge gaps, we can include your matching resources in their personal ISSSP Six Sigma Profiler Report as part of the Body of Knowledge Reference Guide.
- We can also promote your matching resources on the SixSigmaProfiler.com with cross links to your product description pages.
