

Innovation Workshops Provided by the AIT Group

The AIT Group proudly invites you to experience the incredible power of methodology taught by one of the industry pioneers and Pulitzer Prize nominee, Dr. George Land.

Attendees will receive a copy of his acclaimed book Breakpoint and Beyond: Mastering the Future - Today

More and more companies are investing into innovation. Business Week interviewed 100 CEO's and 95 said that innovation was absolutely critical to their company's success.

Bill Ford, the Chairman and CEO of Ford, recently stated "Innovation will be the compass that guides this company going forward."

WHY should you attend one of these workshops? Because we believe that "The best way to predict the future is to create it."

INNOVATION is for organizations that want to solve an existing problem, optimize a business strategy, product or service or to take a fresh look at their future to create new possibilities for growth and profit. Businesses have already made significant gains in productivity and quality, It is predicted that innovation techniques will be the next approach for achieving significant gains in business improvement.

In a global economy, if you don't innovate, you will stagnate or decline. The good news is, every person and every company has latent potential to be innovative, come see how it can be done.
